The Lackawanna Railroad Timetables of 1948 are a valuable resource for collectors of railroad memorabilia. These timetables provide a glimpse into the operations of the Lackawanna Railroad at a time when it was one of the most important railroads in the country.

Historical Context

The Lackawanna Railroad was founded in 1853 as the Lackawanna and Western Railroad. The railroad was originally built to transport coal from the Lackawanna Valley in Pennsylvania to the port of Hoboken, New Jersey.

Over time, the Lackawanna Railroad expanded its operations to include passenger service. The railroad's passenger trains ran throughout the northeastern United States, and they were known for their speed and reliability.

The Lackawanna Railroad reached its peak in the early 20th century. However, the railroad began to decline in the mid-20th century due to the rise of the automobile and the decline of the coal industry.

The Lackawanna Railroad was purchased by the Erie Lackawanna Railroad in 1960. The Erie Lackawanna Railroad was later acquired by Conrail in 1976.
