Objective of the Game

The objective of Plus Four is to be the first player to get rid of all of their cards. The first player to do so wins the game.

Setup

Plus Four is played with a standard deck of 52 cards. The cards are shuffled and dealt out evenly to all of the players. The number of cards that each player receives depends on the number of players in the game. For example, if there are four players, each player will receive 13 cards. If there are five players, each player will receive 10 cards.

Gameplay

The player to the left of the dealer goes first. On their turn, a player can play a card that matches the number or color of the card that is on top of the discard pile. For example, if the top card on the discard pile is a red 7, a player can play a red 7, a blue 7, a green 7, or a yellow 7. If a player cannot play a card, they must draw a card from the draw pile.

If a player draws a Plus Four card, they can play it on any card. When a Plus Four card is played, the next player must draw four cards and skip their turn. The player who played the Plus Four card can then choose the color that the game will continue with.

The game continues until one player has gotten rid of all of their cards. That player wins the game.

Variations

There are a number of different variations of Plus Four. Some of the most popular variations include:

- Skip-Bo: In Skip-Bo, players must build up their cards into stacks in ascending order. The first player to get rid of all of their cards wins the game.
- Phase 10: In Phase 10, players must complete a series of different phases in order to win the game. The first player to complete all 10 phases wins the game.

- Uno: In Uno, players must match the number, color, or symbol of the card on top of the discard pile. The first player to get rid of all of their cards wins the game.

Tips for Playing Plus Four

Here are a few tips for playing Plus Four:

- Try to get rid of your high-value cards first. High-value cards are worth more points, so getting rid of them early on will give you a better chance of winning the game.
- Don't be afraid to use your Plus Four cards. Plus Four cards can be a powerful tool, but they can also be risky. If you play a Plus Four card at the wrong time, you could end up giving your opponents a chance to get ahead.
- Pay attention to what cards your opponents are playing. This will help you to guess what cards they have in their hands and make better decisions about what cards to play.

Plus Four: The Impostor

There is one card in the Plus Four deck that is not like the others. This card is the Wild Draw Four card. The Wild Draw Four card is a special card that can be played on any card. When a Wild Draw Four card is played, the next player must draw four cards and skip their turn. The player who played the Wild Draw Four card can then choose any color to continue the game with.

The Wild Draw Four card is often considered to be an "impostor" because it does not follow the same rules as the other cards in the deck. However, the Wild Draw Four card can be a powerful tool if it is used wisely.
